

CLIMATE ACTION NOW TO TEAM WITH VOTERVOICE

Partnership will facilitate communications with U.S. representatives

NEWS PROVIDED BY

Climate Action Now

Jan 24 2021, 17:24 PT

WOODSIDE, CA, Jan. 24, 2021 -- Climate Action Now has tapped VoterVoice as their conduit to elected officials in all 50 states and Washington, D.C. The Climate Action Now app will serve as an easy and effective means for app users to make their voices heard on Capitol Hill.

According to Climate Action Now Founder and CEO Brett Walter, "Navigating the complexities of government institutions can be frustrating and often feel impossible but VoterVoice is an expert at overcoming communications barriers. Rest assured that when you reach out to an elected official via the Climate Action Now app, your efforts will not be in vain."

"We are thrilled to work with Climate Action Now and are excited to partner with them to help their supporters easily and confidently send their elected officials emails, letters, petitions, tweets, and more, said VoterVoice's Head of Client Education, Brandon Carroll.

It's what we do in and day out and we're excited not only about this new partnership but also to help ensure their efforts hit their mark in driving Climate Action Now's desired advocacy outcomes."

Woodside, California-based Climate Action Now was founded by serial Silicon Valley entrepreneur Brett Walter in 2019. The company's purpose is to put effective climate action, via the Climate Action Now app, at the fingertips of millions of consumers around the world. The app is simple and easy-to-use, and most actions can be taken in seconds or minutes. Brett realized the ubiquitous smartphone is the ideal vehicle to empower individual and collective action to fight climate change - helping people make their voices heard, by government and business, and by providing app users information leading to their own planet-friendly lifestyle changes. The Climate Action Now app will be released in March 2021. Visit www.ClimateActionNow.com for more information.

Brett Walter, Founder & CEO
Climate Action Now
650-520-8614
bwalter@ClimateActionNow.com